Flexible and accurate to meet your needs

Quickcharge can be configured to meet the particular needs of your organization. When an employee makes a purchase in the cafeteria, retail store, or gift shop, quickcharge records the debit transaction and feeds the data directly to your existing time and attendance or payroll system. It also imports data from these systems and assigns each employee a specific spending profile. These profiles allow your organization to enforce charge limits, establish a payback period, and set a maximum debit balance for each employee.

Additionally, quickcharge allows you to build discount profiles so that employees receive only the discounts that they are entitled to receive. For example, volunteers or cafeteria workers can receive a certain dollar amount toward the purchase of lunch. Or, you can give them a discount rate on the purchase of meals that is great than the standard employee discount.
